

Helping Employers Maintain a Healthy Workforce

The AGC Health Benefit Trust is an association health plan co-sponsored by the AGC of Oregon, Columbia Chapter. The trust partners with various carriers and vendors to provide AGC members with a robust employee benefit package to aid in attracting and retaining employees.

The Trust is underwritten as a single large employer benefit plan, which allows AGC member companies of all sizes flexibility in plan design, innovative programs, participation in a stable risk pool of your peers, as well as a safe harbor for navigating health care reform.

“You trust AGC to help your business grow and succeed, protect your company’s interests, and lobby for your rights. I am asking that you allow AGC Health Benefit Trust to be there for your company’s health insurance needs. Collectively, we can build and maintain a strong program, but we need every member to participate. Your company is the key to the health plan’s success.”

–Jim Dokoozian, owner of Dokoozian & Associates

Eligibility

AGC Health Benefit Trust is a bona fide construction industry association health plan and must limit group health plan participation based on the following criteria:

- General Contractors
- Specialty Contractors
- Industry Associates who receive 50% or more annual revenue from the commercial industry.*

*To maintain bona fide status, the trust evaluates Industry Associate eligibility on a case-by-case basis. Not all AGC Industry Associate members may be eligible to participate in the health plan.

All employers must meet minimum underwriting guidelines as outlined by the Trust.
